Seek Student Opinion On Lunch Extension Liaison Committee To Issue Circulars; Asks Faculty To Give Up Row Of Tables

Questionnaires seeking opinions on a proposed lunch hour extension plan will be distributed to the student body within several weeks. This circular distribution idea was adopted by members of the ASUH Liaison committee which met Tuesday.

ACCORDING TO Barry Rubin, committee chairman, "mass opinion" must be compiled since the three letters received from students on the extension question "do not justify any legislation at all."

The committeemen then tackled the pending problem on faculty tables in the cafeteria. After thorough discussion on the matter, the members voted to ask the faculty to relinquish one of the two table rows to the students.

THIS DECISION followed extensive investigation of cafeteria facilities, including an interview with Mrs. Elsie Boatman, cafeteria manager. Members concluded that any segregation plan was impossible with the existing shortage of space in the building.

Members of the committee, which acts as a liaison between student council and administrative agencies, are Richard Tongg, Dewey Kim, Mendel Borthwick and Rubin.

BULLETIN

Ellen Kawamoto, student in charge of the campus mail room, announced that Christmas cards must be mailed by Wednesday, Dec. 15, for delivery before school closes for the yuletide recess. Cards which are dropped in the mail box after Wednesday may not reach students before the holidays, she said.

Building Group Studies Paving And Bus Shelter Plans

Possibilities of paving the area in front of Hemenway hall and of building a waiting station near the TC campus for students awaiting bus service, are now under study by the UH building and grounds committee.

ASUH councilmen recently requested the council of deans to initiate action on these two improvements. The deans in turn have solicited the aid of the building and grounds committee to study the requests, Dean Paul S. Bachman reported.

THE DEANS ALSO prepared a calendar for the academic school year, 1949-50. "The calendar corresponds closely to the last calendar with one exception, which initiates the summer session a week later," commented Dean Bachman.

Definite dates for the distribution of "cinch" notices were also said to be included in the calendar, which awaits the approval of the UH Board of Regents.

White To Attend Washington Speech Meeting Dec. 28-30

Dr. Melvin R. White, associate professor of speech and coordinator of radio service of the University of Hawaii, will attend a meeting of the speech association of America to be held in Washington, D.C., Dec. 28-30.

Dr. White, author of two recently published books, "Children's Stories for Radio Broadcast," and "Mister Geography," reports that the meeting will be held in coordination with the American educational theatre association.

Largest TG Cast To Stage 'Lysistrata'

With the largest cast ever assembled for any UH Theatre Guild production, "Lysistrata" will open its eight day run at Farrington hall Wednesday, Jan. 5, Stanley Yamamoto, publicity agent, announced yesterday.

The play, written by the Greek master comedy writer, Aristophanes, in 412 BC, satirizes the futility of the Peloponnesian War.

FOLLOWING THE tradition of a significant choral element in all Greek plays, "Lysistrata" will have three choruses.

Director Dr. Joel Trapido compiled the script from several different translations to comply with the demands of a 20th century audience.

TICKETS FOR the third TG production will go on sale at the Farrington box office Dec. 16-18 from 9 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. and Dec. 27 through Jan. 15. Reservations may be made by calling 94140.

'WEIGH' SCHOLARS, ATHLETES

Expect Strong Arguments At 'Sports' Forum: Sakamaki

By SAM OKINAGA
Ka Leo Managing Editor

"We expect strong arguments both for and against the university's athletic program," predicted Dr. Shunzo Sakamaki, chairman of the campus chapter of Phi Kappa Phi honor society, which will sponsor the "Scholarship and Athletics at the University of Hawaii" panel discussion at Hemenway hall, Tuesday, Dec. 14, at 7 p.m.

Barry Rubin, student member of the panel, gave an example of "strong arguments" to come when he stated, "This forum will give the administration, students, and the Territory an opportunity to realize the importance of our athletic program."

"THE UNIVERSITY of Hawaii does not realize its importance," Barry added.

Other members of the panel are Dr. Leonora Bilger, Dr. Allan Saunders, Mr. Harold Bitner, Mrs. Francis Bowers, Mr. Adolph Mendonca, Ruth Awai and Stanley Darby.

THE FIRST HOUR will be devoted to a four minute maximum speech by each speaker, followed by a discussion among themselves. The panel will then be open to questions from the floor.

"Questions written either before or during the discussion will also be accepted," Dr. Sakamaki announced.

YMCA And YWCA Co-Sponsor Xmas Convocation Dec. 17

YMCA and YWCA will co-sponsor a Christmas convocation Friday, Dec. 17, at 11:30 a.m. in the gym. The Reverend Glenn Evans of the Aiea Community Methodist church will deliver the Christmas message, according to Janet Seiji and George Yukinaga, chairmen.

Group To Discuss Pine Queen Issue At 9 AM Tomorrow

ASUH President Warren Higa announced that representatives of organizations, agencies, or groups of students planning to sponsor a Pineapple Bowl queen candidate should attend an important meeting tomorrow morning at 9 in the special dining room at Hemenway hall.

According to Higa, the selection of the 1949 Pineapple Bowl queen and a court of four attendants this year will be based on the number of points accumulated by the sale of tickets for the New Year's Day game by contestants and their supporters.

"Organizations which sponsor queen candidates can boost the chances of their favorite to win provided the largest number of points is accrued from the sale of tickets," he said.

HIGA CONCLUDED by stating that this contest will not be held exclusively for student organizations, but will be accessible to any group of interested students who wish to participate.

UH Contributes $122 To Xmas Party For Viennese Children

Nickels and dimes collected on campus will contribute toward the sumptuousness of the Christmas party for Viennese children to be held Sunday, Dec. 19, in the Barock Palace of the ministry of education. The party is sponsored by Dr. Paul L. Dengler, of the Austro-American institute of education.

The bulk of the $122 collected at UH came from the three history 100 classes, Dr. William L. Neumann's history 110 class and members of Vets' dorm. Dr. Arthur J. Marder supervised the collection drive.

THE MONEY will be used to buy CARE packages for the children. In an informative leaflet, Dr. Dengler pointed out that the party is not "to bring relief to a poverty stricken area but to make the

Couple To Greet Visitors At Airport

Miss Wolfpack and King Kamehameha, who will be official UH hostess and host to the Nevada team, will be selected in a contest sponsored by the pre-game activities committee, Monday, 12:30 p.m. at Hemenway patio.

"Miss Wolfpack will be selected for her beauty, poise, personality, and figure," said Doris Obata, committee chairman. "King Kamehameha will be chosen for his good looks," she continued.

AMONG THE judges will be a model, Mrs. Helen Saueressig, Miss Obata said. Others judging the contest will be Dean Willard Wilson; a representative from Bentley's Studio; Dan McGuire, Advertiser sports writer; and Epy Yadao, spirit and rally director, she disclosed.

Furthermore, the names of the two winners will not be revealed until Wednesday, Dec. 15, at the noon-time rally at Hemenway patio when they will be introduced to the students, it was reported.

NAMES OF ALL contestants must be submitted to Virginia McGregor at the Ka Leo office by noon tomorrow. Each mixed club may enter one candidate for both contests. Women's clubs may have one female entrant, while men's clubs may enter one male contestant, the committee ruled.

Additional candidates may be entered through petitions with signatures of 25 students or more, Miss Obata added.

MISS WOLFPACK and King Kamehameha will head the students who greet the visiting Nevada team, Thursday, Dec. 16, according to plans of the committee.

All contestants for Miss Wolfpack are requested by the committee sponsoring the contest to wear costumes appropriate to the title. "Get your ideas from Li'l Abner's comic strip," suggested one member of Ka Leo.

'China Crisis' Topic For Discussion By Cheng Dec. 15

A timely topic, "The Present Crisis in China," will be discussed by Dr. C. K. Cheng, associate professor of sociology, Wednesday, Dec. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Men's Faculty room, Hemenway hall. The International Relations club is sponsoring the talk.

Prof. Philip L. Bridgman, new adviser of the IRC, will be moderator. A question period will follow the discussion, which is open to everyone.

CRACK-DOWN
The University of California is cracking down on the "minority elements" in the Cal rooting section "which persist in infantile, profane and even lewd behavior," such as the booing of Cal players and "spurious yells made when players of the opposing team were introduced, as examples of poor sportsmanship," and the use of obscene signs and posters.

RARE EDITIONS Exhibit Works Of Conrad In UH Library

Rare first editions, manuscripts typewritten in red and purple and filled with revisions in pencil, as well as letters of Joseph Conrad from the world's best privately owned collection of Conrad, are now on display in the UH library.

INCLUDED IN THE exhibit are the first editions of all the major works of this English writer, from his first novel, "Almayer's Folly," written in 1889, to "Suspense," his 25th, which he had not finished at the time of his sudden death in 1924.

Among the first editions are "Victory," in an American first edition, inscribed by Conrad to his wife, Jessie, and "Joseph Conrad's Diary," one of 100 privately printed copies.

WHILE CONRAD is known as an English novelist, he was born Teodor Josef Konrad Korzeniowski in the Kiev section of the Ukraine, Poland in 1857, and knew no English until 1878 when he first set foot on English soil at age 21, and received his first lessons in English from a boat builder.

He was naturalized a British subject in 1886, and began his first novel three years thereafter.

The exhibit will close Friday, Dec. 17.

We're Pulling For Him

AS GAME AS EVER—When Quarterback Sol Kaulukukui (shown here in bed at St. Francis hospital) was seriously hurt last Saturday, a cloud of gloom covered the UH campus. Students and faculty at first refused to believe the headlines which announced Solly may be compelled to quit the grid sport entirely. Late this week team physician Dr. Herbert T. Hata said it was still too early to predict that the injured player would be in uniform next season, but he held out a "50-50 chance." The Rainbow star will be hospitalized until late next week.

WAITING ANXIOUSLY . . .

An Open Letter To Sol Kaulukukui

Dear Sol,

In this open letter to you Ka Leo is expressing what it considers to be the sentiment that is shared by the majority of the members of the University of Hawaii community.

Please don't think we are pitying you. We know only too well that the last thing you want from anybody is sympathy. This is simply our way of telling you—and your fellow athletes—that we deeply appreciate your efforts on behalf of UH; and when one of you is hurt, the student body also feels that hurt.

We don't have to tell you, Sol, how much you will be missed in the Rainbow lineup, by your teammates and the people in the stands. But we're all pulling for you to recover completely from your injuries, and know that you'll be fighting determinedly yourself to see to it that next year you'll be wearing the Green and White again.

We never could quite understand just why it is that a few people here cannot see their way clear to extend more recognition and assistance to university athletes than they do now. Perhaps they don't realize or care to realize the strenuous schedule you boys must follow in order to represent UH in the field of sports.

For instance, we have been wondering why our athletes are not supplied with better medical care than they have been. Why is it that we don't have a small infirmary with modern equipment in the locker room so that minor injuries can be treated right here on campus? Surely our athletes are entitled to that much.

Well, we strayed a bit from our original purpose, but we know you understand the reason behind it. Get well soon, Sol, we're waiting anxiously to have you back in our midst.

As We See It . . .

The Crisis Has Passed

A serious crisis faced the students of this university immediately following the "black Saturday" football game with Texas Mines. We had been handed a stunning defeat; two of our key players were severely injured; the coaches and team were completely dejected; and the student body as a whole was depressed and sorrowed at the turn of events.

To make matters worse, if that were at all possible, the cynical, harping element in town began chanting, "I told you so. Now watch that Manoa school spirit fall apart at the seams." And believe it or not, there actually were some who looked with anxious eyes in the direction of UH, wondering whether there was any truth in that prattling charge.

But in spite of all these unnerving set backs, toward the week's end we could sense a remodeling and a revitalizing of that spirit, which had sagged but never had collapsed. The student body together with the football team snapped out of their dazed condition in somewhat the same manner a patient pulls himself out of the anesthetic after an operation.

What is done is done! With that attitude uppermost in mind, the student body together with the football team settled down, looking only to the future.

UH approaches the forthcoming game with Nevada in a spirited, energetic mood. And, although the picture is not as rosy as we would like it to be, we are determined to press home on our skeptical observers that because our team loses a football game, no matter how badly, it never loses the unequivocal support of the student body.

To put added emphasis on these words, we advise the outside community here and now that if it needs proof, it is going to get that substantiation. We call the public's attention to the many student events planned for next week. We predict the float parade scheduled for December 28 will leave the city astounded and amazed.

We have emerged from our "acid test" as strong if not stronger than we were before undergoing it. Our confidence in the Roaring Rainbows remains unbroken; our faith in ourselves has been reaffirmed.

The Green and White continues to fly in the Hawaiian sun, and we are resolved to keep it there!

A FINE GESTURE
Last Tuesday afternoon Sol Kaulukukui, patient in the St. Francis hospital, received two visitors from a class in which he is enrolled. They were Mercedes Hutchison and Johnny Dang, students in Dr. Shunzo Sakamaki's history 201 course, who went there as representatives of the 80 students in the class.

Their visit to the hospital was prompted by a suggestion from the thoughtful class and an understanding professor. When the group met at 11:30 Tuesday, its members felt the absence of Sol, who used to straggle into class three times a week with a smile, pick out a seat in the corner of the room, and listen attentively to the prof's lecture.

The class wanted to show Sol that his classmates were all behind him and pulling for his speedy return to school. In digging deep into their pockets and purses for contributions to a "Kaulukukui Fund," the students filled a cigar box with coins, quarters and even folding stuff.

With the money contributed, Mercedes and Johnny bought a bouquet of flowers, a box of candy, and magazines and presented them to Sol that Tuesday afternoon at the hospital.

In Sol's simple remark, "Thank the kids for me, please," was an appreciation to the class for a fine gesture.

WANTED: MORE DANCERS AND MUSICIANS
Coeds' response to the plea by cheerleader Dick Tongg for 200 wahines to perform a mass hula during the halftime program at the Pineapple Bowl classic has not been too encouraging.

Up to Wednesday noon, only 25 girls have signed up to dance.

For those girls who feel their lack of talent justifies their refusal to sign up, Epy Yadao, director of the spirit and rally committee, reports that next week instructors will teach girls who wish to learn hula dancing.

Under the auspices of the Keanuenue society, hula instructors will hold sessions Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 8 to 11 a.m. and from 12:30 to 3 p.m. at Hemenway hall. Keanuenue members have also volunteered to instruct interested girls next Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m.

According to Tongg and Yadao, two dance rehearsals will be held before Jan. 1, with one mass dress rehearsal scheduled tentatively for the amphitheatre Thursday, Dec. 30.

Men students to accompany the girls for two numbers are also in need. Ukulele and guitar strummers are advised to sign up in the ASUH office immediately! No club affiliation is required.

Ken Kawate Seeks 'Gloves' Crown Tonite

Flying leather is the best description of the semi-finals bouts of the Territorial Golden Gloves last Wednesday night in Civic auditorium. Ken "Cannonball" Kawate came through the test victoriously to become a finalist favorite for tonight's bouts.

"Cannonball" carried the fight to his opponent and outpointed him in the three round lightweight battle. Kalfred Wong, Ken's opponent, could not quite fathom the UH fighter's style in time to stave off defeat.

THE BATTLE between Bobby Agena, another UH colorbearer, and Alfred Torres, of CYO, was a good three round match. Torres proved to be too much for Agena in speed and in reach, as he kept holding Bobby off with long jabs while pushing through points of his own. It was a close decision but the nod went to Torres.

Tonight "Cannonball" Kawate goes into the finals in the lightweight division when he meets Stanley James of the Army stable. A win tonight will mean that Ken is crowned new king of Territorial amateur lightweights.

Frosh Cagers Big Isle Bound

Coach Al Saake's Frosh team has completed plans for the invasion of Hilo, and is slated to play there Jan. 7 and 8. Its opponents will be Hilo Collegians and Pahoa high.

Little is known about Pahoa, except that it is reputed to have a strong team this year.

A PARTY OF 14, including Coach Saake and his two managers, Robert King and Ben Guillermo, are slated to make the trip.

Before going to Hilo, they have four more games to play here. These are against Farrington, Dec. 20; Kaimuki, Dec. 22; Punahou, Dec. 27; and Mid Pacific, Dec. 29. They will all be preliminary games.

FUTURE CHAMP?—Ken "Cannonball" Kawate, UH's lightweight hope, pounded out a clear cut decision over Kalfred Wong of the CYO stable in the semifinal bout Wednesday night to remain in the race for the lightweight fistic diadem. Ken trades blows tonight with Stanley James of the Army in the championship bout at Civic auditorium.

HIS FIRST DEFEAT — Bantam-weight Bobby Agena's climb to a brilliant pugilist career was cut short Wednesday night when he suffered his first loss of the season at the hands of CYO's Alfred Torres, in the semifinal round. Bobby put up a game scrap, but lost the nod to the veteran CYO bantam in a close battle.

AFTER THE BALL GAME'S OVER

Texas Mines is behind and past; the Nevada game is ahead and in the future. None of us, especially the men on the team, liked the "licking" we took at the hands of the Muckers.

It was admittedly hard to take for many reasons; both for us who watched from the stands and the boys who battled it out on the field. It was costly in player injuries and to the fighting spirit.

But this is not the first upset sustained by a football team and will not be the last. It is, however, past; so let us forget it and look toward the next two games.

The student's moral support of a team is important. It lets the guys who are out there playing know that they are being backed up by the students, win, lose or draw. So let's stick with them and cheer them on when they meet Nevada.

MSC PAYS TRIBUTE TO SOL . . .

The Michigan State Varsity football squad placed Sol Kaulukukui on their All-Foe roster for having been one of the best passers they met this year.

This honor from the Michiganders could not come at a more opportune time than now. Sol, in the hospital, will be out for the remainder of the season.

Nevada Favored Over Hampered Dean Squad

"Slingin'" Stan Heath, All American back and holder of the new national passing record, will enter Honolulu stadium with the Wolfpack of Nevada Friday, Dec. 17 as heavy favorites over the UH Roaring Rainbows.

Minus the services of veteran passer Sol Kaulukukui, and hampered by the injuries to several other leading players, the Deans will have to shoot the works to win after their defeat by Texas Mines.

COACH JOE Sheeketski's boys, sporting a fine record with but a single loss suffered at the hands of Santa Clara, 14-0, feature a wide open passing attack with Heath as the main cog. Stan, backed by a host of fine running backs, will make the Wolfpack a definite threat on the ground also.

Handicapped by injuries the Green and Whites have been re-vamping their attack this week

Shuttlecock Shufflers

Practice sessions for the WAA badminton tournament will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays at 12:30 in the gym until Thursday, Dec. 16. Interested students are asked to contact their class managers, Betty Lou Lung, Frosh; Bertha Gum, Sophs; and Dot Oyakawa, Juniors and Seniors.

Manoa Cage Squad Invades Hilo Thursday For Series

The mighty University of Hawaii basketball team, coached by genial Art Gallon, has completed plans for the invasion of Hilo. They are slated to leave Honolulu Thursday, Dec. 16, at 1:30 p.m. and will return Saturday, Dec. 18.

One outstanding Hilo Senior league team and the Hilo Collegians have been picked to play against the UH Varsity. These two teams are among the best in Hilo, and have been practicing continuously for the sole purpose of beating the invaders.

STARTING LINE-UP for the 'Bows both nights will be Ed Loui, Bill Young, George Malama, Alvin and perfecting their defenses in order to stop the passing of Heath and company.

OLD FACES will be seen in new positions as the local lads try to pull this one out of the hat. Bob Moore will now be calling the plays from the quarterback slot instead of playing his old position at half.

With Dick Mamiya also working at quarter the Rainbows hope to open up an attack of their own to rival that of Nevada. Harry "Clown" Kahuanui, Phil Haake, and Ken Nakamura will be the ends downfield to catch Mamiya's heaves.

HEATH, WHO has led the Wolfpack to eight wins in nine games this season, has already broken the national collegiate passing record and will be out to display his ability to Honoluluans next Friday night. He broke the record formerly set by All American Davy O'Brien of Texas Christian in 1938. Heath has piled up 2005 yards in passing this season.

A large crowd is expected as the local fans will get their second chance in two weeks to see a national star in action. Last Saturday Flyin' Fred Wendt displayed the talents which made him the nation's top in rushing and second in scoring.

"Buddy" Haake, and Bobby Wong. Additional players making the trip include Charles "Kats" Hamane, Ed "Flaps" Edralin, Harry "The Cat" Hee, Larry "Horse" Sato, Allen Yokomoto, Richard Davi, and Takashi Matsui. Manager Gordon Chee and Coach Gallon bring the total to 14 who are going on the trip.

This trip is sponsored by the Hilo chapter of the UH Alumni association and is for the sole purpose of building up that organization's scholarship fund, which benefits UH students from Hilo.

Lessons On Tumbling, Apparatus Offered

Free lessons in tumbling and apparatus are available for wahines and men, it was announced by Coach Don Gustuson. The lessons will be given at the same hours the judo and wrestling groups meet: 12:30 Tuesdays and Thursdays. Advanced tumblers will meet every Tuesday and Thursday at 2:30.

Marshallese Student Here On Scholarship

By MARGARET UCHIGASHIMA
Ka Leo Staff Writer

Marshallese Dwight Heine is a young man whose quiet composure belies his many experiences. He grew up under the Japanese occupation, was conscripted for service with the Japanese, aided Americans as an interpreter during the war, and helped direct the newly organized educational program in the Marshall Islands as superintendent of schools.

Dwight, who claims a German-English grandfather and calls Ebon Atoll his home, is studying here on a one-year scholarship through appointment by the deputy high commissioner of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

HE IS TAKING courses in education to enrich and widen his own background for the time when he will return to his post as assistant to the superintendent of the Marshall Islands school system.

The school system there, according to the husky scholar, is still in the embryonic stage. Facilities are limited but are being gradually improved, he said.

HE STATED that the first books received after the end of the war were cast offs sent by Hawaii. The curriculum there is similar to that here, and includes such basic subjects as English, geography, art, science and commercial subjects.

Marshallese children are very eager to learn, Dwight reports. "They know now that the world is a much bigger place than they thought, and they realize that education is necessary to adjust to the ways of the world."

CONTRARY TO the notion of many, it was pointed out by the Atherton house resident that Western dress has been worn by the natives for nearly 80 years. This is attributed to the influence of the missions and visiting trading ships.

While the men worked on copra, the biggest industry in the Marshalls before the war, the women wove lauhala fans and handbags, and fashioned ingenious shell jewelry.

All-Girl Troupe To Stage 'Kabuki'

A "kabuki shibai," classical Japanese drama, will be presented at McKinley auditorium Jan. 1 through 8 by an all-girl group of 16 players from the Mainland, most of whom are students.

By RAY HAFTEL
Ka Leo Ass't Feature Editor

With the accent on Christmas joy and good spirits, a program for the senior picnic tomorrow has been devised which in the words of Alvin Shim, program committee chairman, "... will make the seniors want to spend four more years at the university."

Transportation to Manners Beach, where the picnic is to be held, will be provided by private cars. Timmy Au, transportation committee chairman, has issued another urgent call for all seniors to accommodate as many of their classmen and guests as they can.

"WE CAN AFFORD buses," Au remarked, "but if everyone goes to the picnic in private cars, no one would have to leave at a set time."

Cars will leave Manoa campus at 2, and at 6 the picnic supper will be served. At 10, Kimiko Hanta, food chairman, promises roasted hot dogs and steaming hot coffee.

Faculty 'Ivory Towers' Reveal Queer Oddities

By HELEN KIMURA
Ka Leo Staff Reporter

Confucius said: "Most men like queer things." Poking around into some of the professors' offices, one begins to think that perhaps Confucius had something there. At any rate, the odd knick-knacks lying on paper-littered desks and occupying dusty corners tend to indicate that the sage was far from wrong.

Katayama said that all class projects will be financed primarily from class funds, except the April 2 dance.

HE REQUESTS that suggestions and questions regarding this year's Junior class be submitted to any of the class officers: Helen Oshima, secretary; Thelma Chock, treasurer; and Satoru Izutsu, vice president.

Rally Group Photos Dec. 13

Students associated with the spirit and rally committee are requested to meet in front of the Ka Palapala office, Monday, Dec. 13, at 12:30 to have photos taken for the yearbook.

They are also asked to remind students that the football song writing contest is still open.

ON TOP OF HIS 10-foot shelf of books on literature, drama, and music, Dr. Willard Wilson, dean of student personnel, keeps a grotesque image of a man carved in wood.

In defense of his cherishing this possession, Dr. Wilson explained, "I like it because it is so consoling. When I look at it, I feel very handsome."

EVERYTHING outside the plant kingdom can be found in Dr. Arthur H. Banner's office. A zoologist through and through, Dr. Banner collects preserved crayfish as well as Eocene-era fossils.

His prize specimen is a walrus skull, which was excavated from a Bering Sea island in 1941. Dr. Banner said that it is 30 inches long and "is worth about $150 in ivory."

DR. ARTHUR MARDER, popular exponent of world history, states that "the office is a storage place for excess items that would otherwise clutter up the apartment."

Verifying his statement are three bulky trunks that lie in one corner of his third floor office in the social science building.

"THOSE AREN'T there so I can make a quick get-away in case the students decide to railroad me out of town," Dr. Marder quipped. "There just isn't room for them anywhere else."
